OPENING EVENT AND RECEPTION FOR THE FIAS INVESTMENT GENERATION VIENNA OFFICE

October 21, 2008 | 17:00-19:30

Palais Daun-Kinsky | Freyung 4, 1010 Vienna

FIAS is the World Bank Group's multi-donor Investment Climate Advisory Service. It is managed by the International Finance Corporation (IFC), the private sector arm of the World Bank Group, and supported by the Multilateral Investment Guarantee Agency (MIGA) and the World Bank as well as a wide range of bilateral and multilateral development agencies. Established in 1987, FIAS advises governments of developing and transition countries on how to improve their investment climates to support domestic private sector development and cross-border investment.

The FIAS Investment Generation Vienna Office has been established with financial support from the Austrian Ministry of Finance as well as other donors. Through the Vienna Office, FIAS will assist client countries in Eastern Europe and Central Asia in improving the legal and regulatory environment pertaining to local and cross-border investment, and in developing strategic approaches to attracting and winning foreign direct investment. The Vienna Office will also serve as a competence center for FIAS' Investment Generation activities worldwide.
